

CORONAVIRUS (COVID-19) – BUSINESS CONTINUITY

In accordance with the latest Government advice, we have now closed our business premises temporarily, so we would ask you not to visit our offices at this time. Please be reassured that we have measures in place that will allow our staff to continue to work remotely from their homes to progress your matters and protect your interests.

We remain open for business and our aim is to continue to provide you with the highest level of service and to operate normally as far as possible in this challenging situation.

However, in light of the current circumstances some changes to our working practices are necessary so we would ask you to contact us in the first instance by telephone or email and we will endeavour to carry out client meetings via telephone or video link.

In circumstances where a face to face meeting is essential, we will contact you to discuss how this can be facilitated, in light of the latest guidance and advice from the Government. The health and safety of our clients and staff is our priority and we are following the recommended safety advice and precautions.

We can assure you that we will do our utmost to ensure that your phone calls will be answered, and emails responded to for any queries you may have.

Please do not hesitate to contact us if you have any questions or concerns and thank you for your understanding at this difficult time.
